The house is a two story structure, presently covered with stucco. The main (south) facade is four bays, the two center bays being doorways. At the east end is a one story fireplace with a large stack. The windows are 6/6 double hung sash. Across the front is a one story porch with bracketed posts and jigsaw work decoration.

A two story el extends to the north. It has a central chimney.

North of the house is a double corncrib with louvered windows; the openings are square headed, each with two arched louvered panels. Part of the building is log and part is frame. There is also a frame bankbarn on a stone foundation.
